

Professional Responsibility for Government Attorneys An Annual Symposium

Presented by the Capitol Hill Chapter of the Federal Bar Association

Conflicts of Interest, Gifts, and Lobbyists

Rarely has there been more of an interest in and focus on ethics and integrity in official Washington. And along with this increased emphasis have come new rules and regulations for doing business with and in the federal government. Washington area attorneys who work for the federal government, or whose work brings them into regular contact with federal agencies and personnel, need to know the current state of the federal ethics landscape and how it will affect their jobs.
